Montezuma Valley Publishing, publisher of the Cortez Journal and The Durango Herald, have chosen Quipp to install one Remanufactured (8:1) High Speed Inserter with a single stacker delivery at their Cortez, CO production facility.

Other components consist of Automatic Repair, NEWSCOM 6 Insert Management Control System, and one Quipp Model 501W newspaper stacker. The equipment is due to be operational this summer.

Quipp is also proud to announce the sale of NEWSCOM 6 Insert Management Control System to the Mail Tribune in Medford, OR.

NEWSKOM 6 = USER FRIENDLY CONTROLS

The NEWSKOM 6 Insert Management Control System is a Windows XP.NET control system, utilizing open architecture, designed to give the publisher the ability to process and deliver insert packages quickly and economically.

NEWSKOM's internal data architecture is designed to handle your most complex distribution requirements.

Today's advertisers demand more accountability than ever. NEWSKOM 6 stores data at the individual package level. This means information about each and every newspaper that exits the inserter is stored. NEWSKOM'S ever-expanding set of reports will fulfill your needs. All reports can be saved as PDF files and e-mailed. Event logs can be viewed and sorted on the fly.

The Mail-Tribune has selected Quipp to upgrade their existing inserter controls.

Quipp announces the sale of a Quipp Packman Packaging System to the News-Journal, a Gannett newspaper, in Mansfield, OH and a Quipp Packman Packaging System to The Post & Courier in Charleston, SC. The equipment for both sites is due to be operational this summer.

Quipp PACKMAN: Stack, Wrap, Print & Strap in one fast, reliable operation

An outstanding example of Quipp's dedication to enhanced efficiency in post-press operations is the Quipp Packman Packaging System. The Quipp Packman combines a heavy-duty stacker, a three-quarter wrapper, an inkjet printer and a mobile strapping module in a single system that saves space, and helps newspapers reduce their production time and reduce their labor costs.

The Quipp Packman has been an instant hit with dozens of units already in service at an impressive list of papers owned by several of the nation's leading publishers, especially when dealing with their tough to handle big Sunday products.

Quipp has sold over 65 Quipp Packman Packaging Systems!

The Edmonton Journal purchased five (5) Quipp Vipers to be installed in their facility in Edmonton, Alberta Canada.

The Edmonton Journal has been a Quipp satisfied customer for many years.

THE NEW YORK TIMES PURCHASED ONE ADDITIONAL QUIPP MODEL 500 STACKER & ONE ADDITIONAL QUIPP VIPER WRAPPER

The New York Times has purchased an additional Quipp Model 500 Stacker and an additional Quipp Viper. These are in addition to the previous eleven (11) Quipp Stackers and eleven (11) Quipp Vipers they ordered in December of last year which will be installed in their College Point facility.
